Dental care is more than just a cure for bad breath. Just like people, pets need preventative dental health care to avoid painful problems later in life.

Here are some things to think about while you're brushing your teeth:

- More 8 out of 10 dogs, and 7 out of 10 cats show signs of poor dental health by the age of three.
- Dental problems in pets – as in people – can lead to pain, tooth loss, and periodontal disease
- Pets' oral disease invariably progresses with time, as does people's, and can result in damage to internal organs, including the heart, liver and kidneys.

Poor dental care affects more than just your pet's mouth. Bacteria from the mouth can enter the bloodstream and damage your pet's liver, kidneys, lungs and heart. A proper dental care routine can add 3-5 years to your pet's life.
